CIVIL AND MILITARY EDUCATION

HARDLY A day passes when some former student of this school, now serving in His Majesty's Forces, does not return to make a call. We are always glad to welcome them and can manage to find time to have a talk. They come from all the Services, from all parts of Canada and from foreign lands. They are always glad to return home and also seem glad to visit the school and renew acquaintances.

As I meet these young men I am impressed by their fine physical condition, their enthusiasm for their work, their mental alertness and their splendid morale. I find, without exception, that they like the life they live, they like the training they undergo, they like the discipline to which they are subjected and are quite frank in acknowledging that their physical development is to a great extent attributable to the regularity of their lives. After induction into the various Services they continue their school education, but state with pride that they are forced to work harder and over longer hours at their books than they did in high school. They, of course, have a new and different motive and are in keen competition with their classmates and are taking such subjects as are of immediate use to them in their military life.

Some criticism is being offered of our schools that we are sending out youths who are soft and flabby, who have passed through school without working near to their capacity and are undisciplined or have little respect for authority, and that a general tightening up all along our educational line is most desirable.

There are, however, very different objectives in the education offered by high schools and the education offered by the military authorities. The training in the Armed Forces is for one purpose only, to equip youth to fight this war and win it. It is accepted at once that the basis of a successful army must be discipline, where there is the greatest respect for authority, where a man must obey an order without question or hesitation. In the schools our greatest task, however, is to prepare our boys and girls for civil life as we still believe that this war will be over in a few years. We must, therefore, continue to give our students training in our traditional basic subjects and general education experience that will best fit them for civil life. If our youth are soft and flabby then we can and perhaps should make vigorous physical training compulsory throughout all years of high school, and if they are undisciplined then we might be more severe but should be very clear in our minds the type of discipline most desirable, remembering that there is the obedience of the robot and that of the thinking man; the obedience of the slave and that of the free man; the obedience of compulsion and fear and that which springs from understanding and a genuine spirit of co-operation.

The purpose of democratic education is to rear free men and women who can think critically and independently, who can take their place intelligently in the social and economic life of their country whether in time of peace or of war. There are no short cuts in education, and there is danger that we may lose sight of the ultimate objectives in a preoccupation with immediate and expedient ends.

J. R. Woodman.

SHIELD OVER FREEDOM

Over Dunkirk—too few
 Over Singapore—too few
 Over Crete—too few
 But the factories hummed, and the people toiled;
 More planes, more planes . . . Thousands . . .
 Squadron after squadron—
 Roaring into the sky! Layer above layer!
 Far below—like toy ships on a floor—
 The Convoy—
 Shield over the Convoy

The Stukas slink away—the Convoy goes on!
 Shield over Malta—Malta, the indomitable.
 Shield over the Eighth Army, crashing to Victory.
 Shield over the Great Fleet, steaming to Algiers.
 And some day—shield over Europe while the Nazi hordes go rolling back . . .
 And our boys go charging forward to free the nations.
 Shield over Freedom!
 More Planes.

—MORE PLANES.

NOTHING MATTERS NOW BUT VICTORY

By J. J. Souter.

HERE, THERE and everywhere, no matter where we turn today, the statement "Nothing Matters Now But Victory" confronts us. Do many of you ever take time out to give that statement any real honest to goodness consideration? In this country of Democracy and Freedom, away from the very devastating scenes of the bloody battle-front, we allow ourselves to become rather placid and actually indifferent to the war effort.

At the time of writing, the Reserve Army is putting forth a drive to increase the Reserve strength up to the full quota necessary for Home Defence. Two thousand men are needed in Calgary. The response has been very poor, and thus Military Authorities have been rather outspoken in their criticism of the business and professional men. Brigadier Harvey, V.C., states in a letter addressed "Mr. Family Man"—"Our men in the Active Force overseas are training day and night, and offering their lives for this country and your safety. Are you, in the homeland, devoting all your spare time besides your civilian occupation to fitting yourself to do the same in case this country is attacked.—Realize today that it is your duty to your brothers overseas, to your country here, that you see its shores are kept from the enemy." His remarks not only apply to men who are available to join the Reserve Army, but to the boys who are eligible for cadet training.

With regard to cadet training, the main thing to keep in one's mind is, that everyone who is serving as a cadet, whether as an Air, Sea or Army Cadet, is not only improving his own status, but is doing at least his own little bit towards the war effort of his country in the cause of Freedom and Democracy, and there is no doubt that "Nothing Matters Now But Victory".

The boys who join any one of the Cadet Organizations are to be admired by their fellow students. They possess something—yes, something that is needed to show of what they are made. It takes much of their spare time. They receive no cheers for turning out to parades. They receive little honor or even recognition for their willingness to do their bit. In many cases they receive unfavorable criticism from on-lookers, who do not possess the gumption to give up some of their pleasure-seeking activities, and join a cadet corps. Many of the boys who should set a high example for the Grade X's to follow certainly fail in doing anything to be looked up to. Even the majority of our basketball and rugby boys, who expect much extra time and floor space devoted to their pleasure, lack the quality of patriotism. They fail in doing their bit for their country. If asked why they don't belong to any cadet corps the reply is "I haven't time", or "I am too busy". Maybe so, but if a basketball practice is called any time of day, any day of the week, or every day of the week, they are there "with bells on". Others sacrifice; why not them?

In order to overcome all obstacles destructive to the good citizenship of each and every cadet, the cadet must first put aside all petty jealousies, greed, hatred and suspicion, and throw the buoyancy of his own enthusiasm into his cadet training. Others might also improve their personal citizenship qualities by adhering to these points.

The cadets, through their virtue of patience and the fruitfulness of perseverance have received very little reward for their efforts. They themselves are rewarded by having a clear conscience from knowing they are doing their bit. Others should give this some consideration and forget about "George doing it" and do something themselves.

The Navy and Air Cadets have been off to a flying start, and in the course of the last three years have accomplished much. Civilian Organizations — Air Cadet League, the Navy League, have come to the front and have seen that the boys have uniforms, equipment and a building as headquarters. This help has aided not only in securing recruits but the uniform gives the boys that extra responsibility of duty. The Military Authorities have promised the delivery of the Army Cadet uniforms shortly. It is hoped that by the time this Acatec is published our Royal Canadian Army Cadets will be proud possessors of the newly designed Cadet uniforms. The Army Cadets are off to a good start this year. The Corps have been honored by His Majesty the King, bestowing upon them the title of "Royal Canadian Army Cadets".

At Western the Corps has become affiliated with the 41st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery (Reserve). It is hoped that this affiliation will open up a wider scope of training. Ac I's will be available. Maybe 1943-1944 will see the School Cadets parading at night for a longer drill period, which will enable a more extensive program of training.

The Air Cadets have expanded so much in the past year that special quarters were arranged for them in the Ranchman's Club. The Sea Cadets have their training quarters in East Calgary.

Keep in mind, everyone can do his little bit by joining a Cadet Corps. Your spirit alone is an aid towards "Nothing Matters Now But Victory".

MISSING FROM GROUP—RUBY SIMMONS, ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGER.

THAT WAS THE YEAR

In years to come, you will look back on the school year of 1942-43 as a momentous one, not only in life at Western but in the world at large. You'll perhaps remember that that was the year the Blitz backfired on Hitler and Co., backfired right in the Fuehrer's face in North Africa where the Axis Armies surrendered to the victorious United Nations forces; backfired at Essen, Cologne, and Hamburg, at Lorient, Berlin and Naples . . .

That was the year that Western, though lacking hockey and rugby, went over the top with basketball and tumbling displays. Yes, the boys and girls showed that the loss of two of the most stirring sports could not get them down, so they buckled right in and supported the ones that were left.

That was the year the Dramatics department gave a house-packing presentation of "Excursion".

That was the year that the hep-cats trucked on down to such tunes as "Strictly Instrumental", "Juke Box Saturday Night", "Brazil", "Don't Get Around Much Anymore", "Let's Struggle Babe", "Turn On the Heat", "Whatta Workout" is common "Jive Talk" at the noonday shags. When "Lights are Low" and the "Moonlight Mood" steals over the slightly sentimental, tunes like "I Had the Craziest Dream", "Star Dust" and "Moonlight Becomes You" are just what the doctor ordered.

That was the year the pages of history were written with the blood of the Canadian soldiers who fought at Dieppe.

That was the year the New York Times campaigned against the slipshod scholastic attainments of high school students; the Western Mirror enjoyed one of its best years and the Acatec subscriptions totalled over 1,000.

That was the year three Western students won scholarships. The Bennett Scholarship was won by Donald Aikenhead, the McKillop by Vera Waters, and the Western Memorial by James Munro.

That was the year we saw many of our boys leave the halls of Western for His Majesty's Services, and we wish them all the luck in the world during future years.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL

A MESSAGE TO THE STUDENTS

ANOTHER SCHOOL year has passed the way of all the others. During the past year I have seen many students join His Majesty's Forces, "they took the sword in preference to the pen". These students are bringing honor to our school. Some are paying the supreme sacrifice, of life, so we may live in a better world.

I have been very fortunate during my term of office in having a Council body and an executive which so capably and cheerfully carried out their work.

I would like to take this excellent opportunity to offer the Council's thanks to Mr. Woodman and Mr. Johnson for their support and wisdom lent us in advisory capacities, to Mr. Irwin who so graciously undertook the task of doing much of our advertisement in the way of posters, to Mr. Everest who has had the thankless job of keeping the records and books for all our dances and socials, to the Mirror staff for generously giving all our undertakings publicity.

To the students who will be finishing their school years at the conclusion of this term, we extend our best wishes for success and happiness in future years. To the many students who will be joining His Majesty's Forces at the end of this school year, and the students of Western who have already joined up, we reverently extend our best wishes to you in the battle in which you are fighting for peace and justice. We are all looking forward to the day, at the cessation of hostilities, when you will return to us. To the students who will be returning to Western next year, I can only say make the most out of your remaining school years, give your utmost support to the next year's Students' Council, to all the socials and all the sports carried on by Western.

We, of the Students' Council, sincerely hope that during the past year we have in part fulfilled the trust and expectations placed in us by you.

BERT MAGINLEY,
President of the Students' Council.

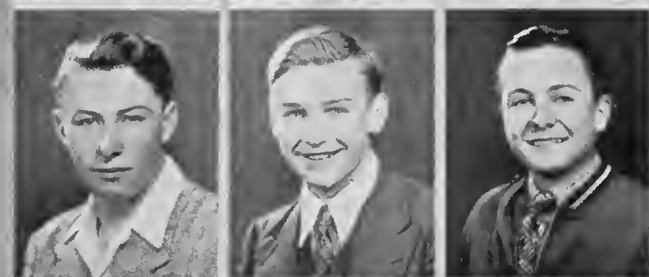

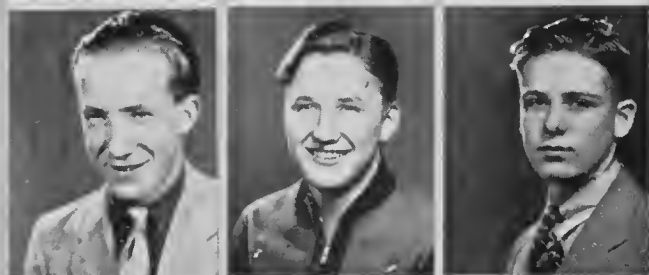

SPITFIRES

"Sing a song of Spitfires,
Flying thro' the air,
Racing everywhere.
When the Hun comes over,
Each little Spitfire spits.
Now isn't that a dainty way
To mess up Messerschmidts?"

—GEO. BREMNER,
Ex-Westerner now in R.C.A.

LAUGH AND BE MERRY

Laugh and be merry, remember, better the world with a song,

Better the world with a blow in the teeth of a wrong. Laugh, for the time is brief, a thread the length of a span.

Laugh, and be proud to belong to the old proud pageant of man.

Laugh and be merry: remember, in olden time, God made Heaven and Earth for the joy He took in a rhyme,

Made them and filled them full with the strong red wine of His mirth,

The splendid joy of the stars: the joy of the earth.

So we must laugh and drink from the deep blue cup of the sky,

Join the jubilant song of the great stars sweeping by. Laugh, and battle, and work, and drink of the wine outpoured

In the dear green earth, the sign of the joy of the Lord.

Laugh and be merry together, like brothers akin, Guesting awhile in the rooms of a beautiful inn, Glad till the dancing stops, and the lilt of the music ends.

Laugh till the game is played; and be you merry, my friends.

—John Masfield.

COURAGE

Courage isn't a brilliant dash,
A daring deed in a moment's flash;
It isn't an instantaneous thing
Born of despair with a sudden spring
It isn't a creature of flickered hope
Or the final tug of a slipping rope;
But it's something deep in the soul of man
That is working always to serve some plan.

Courage isn't the last resort
In the work of life or the game of sport;
It isn't a thing that a man can call
At some future time when he's apt to fall;
If he hasn't it now, he will have it not
When the strain is great and the pace is hot.
For who would strive for a distant goal,
Must always have courage within his soul.

Courage isn't a dazzling light
That flashes and passes away from sight;
It's a slow, unwavering, ingrained trait
With the patience to work and the strength to wait.
It's part of a man when his skies are blue,
It's part of him when he has work to do.
The brave man never is freed of it
He has it when there is no need of it.

Courage was never designed for show;
It isn't a thing that can come and go;
It's written in victory and defeat
And every trial of a man may meet
It's part of his hours, his days and his years,
Back of his smiles and behind his tears.
Courage is more than a daring deed:
It's the breath of life and a strong man's creed.

—Edgar A. Guest.

Afghans and navy scarves were knit for the Red Cross.

This Sorority is one of the oldest in the city as it is their eleventh year. They are an active member on the Grand Council of Sororities. This year they held two successful dances; one for the Conservative Mobile Unit Fund and the other at the Palliser during Christmas week. A raffle was held and the proceeds donated to the war effort. Members knitted for the Red Cross and a war savings certificate was bought once a month by the girls. Many other social events were held during the year.

NU DELTA

At the Nu Delta Rush Tea held at Kaye Knights' home in September, the following were chosen as new members: Clara Parry, Ruth Sharpe, Hazel MacDonald, Irene Smith and Audrey McLean. The main activity of the year is the annual dance "Dog Patch Doins" held November 15th, 1942 at Penley's. The annual "Easter Parade" proved to be very successful.

THE WESTERN ORCHESTRA

At Back—Mr. Woodman, Miss Makar.

With a long list of accomplishments behind them, Western Canada High School's Orchestra is this year one of the most active school organizations in the city. Under the direction of Miss Makar, it attained a most enviable position when, on Young Canada Day, it played on a Canadian-wide hook-up.

At this year's minor dramatic production "The Man Who Wouldn't Go To Heaven", it played for two successive nights before appreciative audiences. Several Western school assemblies have enjoyed the orchestral contributions of this accomplished group, as well as a combined assembly at Central.

To the joy of most music-lovers, this year's group have played mostly music of the classics. The trio of Lawrence Hobson, Ferne Whitman and Bill Carr, violinist, pianist and cellist respectively, have played at numerous Home and School meetings, as well as other city functions. Assistance has been given to the Orchestra by other musicians throughout the school. Thanks are extended to Rex Conlin, Stuart Conlin, Tom Deakin, Florence Youngberg, Jack Hepburn, Jim Cumming and Catherine Cushings.

The Orchestra will be active till the end of the school term, when it will play at both Western and Central graduation exercises.

THE CHOIR

Bottom Row—Val McCao, Betty Sharpe, Catherine Cushing, Verna Townsend, Paul Smith, Miss Makar, Frank Glanfield, Stella Long, Elsie Inglis, Joan Mctein, Hazel Bloom, Eva Sinclair.

Efficiently conducted by Miss Makar, the Choir this year consisted of 45 voices, including the male quartet. They have sung before many assemblies and the innovation of "Shortnin' Bread", featuring the male quartet, is still remembered. One factor that contributes to their remarkable success is the unaccompanied singing. Effective setting for a number of songs including Barcarolle, featured their participation in the annual Christmas Concert. This year's annual production, "Excursion", was greatly added to by recordings of the Choir. This was a novel experience for the members of the group. On April 19th they sang for the Calgary Demonstration Festival, one song accompanied by the orchestra, the other featuring the quartet. As in former years, the last appearance of this active group will be at the graduation ceremonies.

RADIO CLUB

 Nick Yakunin (Secretary).

The Western Canada Radio Club proved to be quite active this year. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Bowden and the Projectionist Club, the Radio Club aided in putting on a Skating Party which was a great success, realizing $100.00. Proceeds from this party bought new equipment for the Club, consisting of a microphone, loud speaker and turn table.

With this complete public address system and the aid of Mr. Woodman, the Club was able to organize noon shags, an experiment tried for the first time in any Calgary school.

These shags proved very successful and are very popular with the entire student body. A collection taken at each dance has provided the club with funds to purchase currently popular records, augmenting the club's musical library.

The number of male wallflowers at these shags showed the need of dancing instruction which was consequently provided by the Dancing Club, ably organized by Marjorie McKenna, Everett Pienas and Hector Ingram with music by the Radio Club. In addition to these activities, the club has organized code classes, and on Wednesday noons, our sponsor, Mr. Allan, gives informative theory lessons.

The meetings, which are held regularly every Tuesday afternoon, consist of a short business meeting and a session in the laboratory. The "Lab" work carried on is varied very interesting, since the purpose of this club is to enable its members to perform experiments. Some of the successful work carried on this year was the preparation of chrome-yellow paint, ammonium, sodium, potassium and chromealum, Blossoms of Acacia, liquid soap, sparklers, magante dyes, red, blue and invisible ink, silver mirrors, qualitative analysis, sugar tests and countless other things.

The members wish to thank Mr. Harding who made the Chemistry Club possible and for his helpful advice and great interest.

party at the Crystal Rink. The proceeds were put toward parcels and cigarettes for an "Adopted Soldier" serving overseas. The girls are also taking turns writing letters every week. An afghan for the "Bombed Children of Britain" has been made. Throughout the year the included speakers have come to the meetings: Miss Mitchell, Mr. Dobson, Miss Breckon and some of the members themselves. The girls also participated in the Gamma Chi rummage sale and the "Book Blitz".

The executive is as follows: Everett Pilkington, Boys' President; Gordon Upton, Secretary-Treasurer; the girls are headed by Jean Bulmer as President and June Louden as Secretary-Treasurer. During the year

The I.S.C.F. is a body of students, who, knowing Christ as their Saviour, wish to witness for Him. The club originated in Cambridge University and New Zealand, and now has branches all over Canada and the U.S.A. The Western branch is under the sponsorship of Mr. D. P. Humphries and Mrs. G. Scitch.
a number of interesting speakers spoke to the group and studies were taken on the book "The Drawn Sword". The social events included a city-wide rally at which a silver cup was won, and a party.

This year, the group, which was formerly three, then two, and now reduced to one, under the heading of the Knitting, Sewing and Social Service, had a fairly active season. Babies' articles, such as layetts and toddler's suits, have been made because unfortunately, there was no sewing available. The Social Service end was kept up fairly well, cakes were sent to each child having a birthday, as well as a present. The girls visited the wards every Friday night, playing games and entertaining the children at the Junior Red Cross Hospital. Funds were raised for this and the Alberta Junior Red Cross Hostel.

GIRLS' ASSOCIATION

Muriel Buchanan, Ethel Suttle, Jocelyn Sara, Vera Waters, Alison Matthews, Miss Gish.

The Girls' Association has completed another successful year. The club sponsored the Sadie Hawkin's Dance held at the beginning of the year. This dance was again agreed to be the hit of the year. The proceeds of the dance will be used to buy more track shoes for our teams, and corsages for the graduating girls.

Each girl is automatically a member of this organization and meetings are often held in the auditorium. The executive are given attractive pins along with the Honor Students of the year. The best all-round girl athlete of Western is presented with a cup.

A few of the entertainments held by the club were a roller-skating party held at the Gayety Roller Rink, and a hike.

The activities included: a Rummage Sale, Christmas Party, Knitting for Red Cross, Dance at the Rendezvous, and a Banquet at the Glencoe.

The Projectionist Club has had a very successful year under the direction of its executive: Bob Ward, President; Frank Lee, Vice-President; Frank Donald, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. S. T. Bowden was of great value to the club in the capacity of staff advisor. The enrolment consisted of 35 enthusiastic projectionists who were shown considerable amount of sound and silent films in the different classrooms to assist in the work of instruction. In October, in co-operation with other clubs, a very successful skating party was held, from which the financial returns considerably assisted various school clubs. The club also assisted the Home and School and Students' Union with the joint concert held in March.

BOOKCRAFT CLUB

Lindseth, Pat Sheppard, Verna Pearson.
Bottom Row—Jean Gray, Jerry McKinna, Ellen Norris, Alison Matthews, LaVerne Middleton, Olga Broznitsky.

Although this club did not function last year, it was again organized this year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Robertson and Miss McCracken. The officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Ellen Morris; Secretary, Allison Matthews; Supplies, Margaret Hallberg. Mr. Kinghorn helped the club in many ways.

The girls repaired library books and some students' text books, thus getting in practice for binding books of all kinds. A thorough study was made on how a library is organized.

HIAWATHA'S HEPCATS

One of the newest clubs around Western Canada and Central High Schools this year is the "Hiawatha's Hepcats". It originated two years ago with nine charter members consisting of Maxine Bartsch, Donna Deson, Pat Gilbert (Secretary), Mary-Lou Harris, Margaret Irvine, Shirley McCutcheon (President), Doreen Melton (Press Reporter), Armis Mills (Treasurer), Gloria Peterson. The following members were initiated this year: Jeanne Ennis, Gloria Gibb, Moyra Gore-Hickman. Our activities this year have taken the form of several parties, a raffle, and first-aid work. We plan to end the year with an anniversary banquet.

THE SADIE HAWKIN'S DANCE

Again we credit the Girls' Association for the success of the Sadie Hawkin's Dance, held in the school auditorium, Friday, November 6th, the eve of the celebrated Sadie Hawkin's Day.

The "Ambassadors" rendered music for approximately 300 dancers. Students who purchased programs at school will remember the night well and the fun of pre-arranging their dances. The novelty dances proved a hit and were well organized. We don't know how many girls kept to the tradition of the night being an "Indian Treat", but cold drinks were sold during intermission.

Fifth Row—Walter Erand, Bill Black, Bill Reed, Jack Cush, Ronnie Whitlock, Art Brass, Jack Sharpe, Ridley Shaw.

Not in Picture—Marge Fox, Anabel Turner, Ted Murray, Larry Ricks, Helen Briggs.

This year we welcome into our realm of activities a new club, or rather a new organization, for that is just what the "Bowling Club" is, with a membership of over one hundred from all classes and grades. Under very capable co-operation, the students' club has gone ahead rapidly, and is now the largest organization in the school. The officers of the club are as follows: President, Don Deines; Vice-President, Louis Plewa; Secretary, Lois Douglas; Treasurer, Margaret Fitzgerald; Staff Advisor, Mr. Dobson.

This club may be seen any Tuesday evening, having a good time down at their bowling headquarters, the "Bowladrome", in down town Calgary. The turnout at the first meeting was so large that it was not possible for individual teams to bowl weekly. As a result each team bowls every other week—the school being represented every week. Sixteen Allied Aircraft are used as the names of the different teams.

OMEGA CHI DELTA SORORITY

The Omega Chi Delta Sorority started this season with a shower given in honor of Mrs. Audrey Gough (nee Butler). Later, in October, a Punch Party was held for the purpose of rushing new members, and it was decided that Hazel McCaskie, Lorna Lewis, Marie Brooks and Mary Stanley should be taken into the Sorority. On November 7th a Rummage Sale was held, and on November 14th a party in honor of the new members was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall. A very successful Hamper Tea was held on December 13th, two hampers being later made up and sent. On Boxing Day, the Sorority held a luncheon after which the members attended a show.

It was arranged to hold an Anniversary Party at the Palliser Dinner Dance in April. The Executive for the year was: President, Jean Hickey; Vice-President, Beryl Wales; Recording Secretary, Margaret Armstrong; Corresponding Secretary, Balerie McCaw; Treasurer, Betty Wright; Social Convener, Norrie Rhodes; Press Reporter, Betty Sharpe.

Other members are: Beth Adams, Jo Banks, Muriel Cope, Phyllis Forsyth, Audrey Gough, Betty Pickford, Olive Upton, Margery Carver, Anne Wallace, Gwen McLeod, Marvelle Webster.

SIGMA LAMBDA CHI

The Sigma Lambda Chi Sorority ended last season with two weeks vacation at Sylvan Lake. This fall there was a new election of officers, and five girls were taken into the Sorority to build the membership to 19 active members. These were Agnes Boyd, Eleanor Potts, Connie Papworth, Phyllis Harrison and Dolores Scott. The girls this year obtained gold wool jackets and crests. During the winter, Lorraine Boyd left the city and resumed her Sorority activities with the Regina branch. A ditty bag was donated to a sailor and a sewing basket to the C.W.A.C. The girls also tagged for Poppy Day. At Xmas a private party was held at the home of Doris Chiswick and later in January a theatre party was held. A Rummage Sale took place in February.

PI OMICRON FRATERNITY

The Pi Omicron Fraternity has just completed its sixth successful year. Last fall five new members were inducted, Bob Jenkins, Dick Bell, Jack Rose, Pete Howsam and Lionel Smith. Later in the year Gordon Weber, Al Taylor and Norman Sanderson were taken in.

Many of the boys are joining the Armed Services this year; those who have joined up are Neil Gordon, Norman Sanderson, Gordon McLroy and Pete Howsam. Gordon Baird, Barney Clements and Murray McRay are just concluding their course in the R.C.A.F.

In the fall the Frat. had a dance at the Glencoe Club, several parties and a dance at the Rendezvous.

BOYS' HI-Y

This club year has been under the leadership of a very able executive committee, and our mentor, Mr. R. Dobson. The executive includes Art Longair as President; Gordon Palmer, Vice-President; Doug Copeland, Secretary; Pete Wrangham, Treasurer; and Bob Newcomb as Fifth Member.

The activities of the club have been quite universal in their scope. The beginning of the year featured a skating party which was a success. The year's activities also included a joint discussion with the Girls' Hi-Y on problems which confront High School Students as regards to dates. Several speakers have addressed the club on topics of current interest. Among these guests have been Captain R. E. Stewart, Ray Fairbairn, Mr. J. B. Copeland.

received at the first of the term, enough were accepted to bring up the membership to twenty-six. The executive is as follows: President, Muriel Buchanan; Vice-President, Louise Robertson; Secretary, Mary Campbell; Treasurer, Joan Morland. This year, Miss MacKinnon acted as Mentor.

Early in the term, the Annual Conference was held, the theme this year being "Hi-Y in War Time". At the end of this conference a dance was held at the Glencoe Club. The first real project of the club was to send two Christmas parcels overseas to boys who had no connections in Canada. Early in the year, two very lovely afghans were knit for the Red Cross. As their general theme for discussions throughout the year, the club chose a subject "Comparative Religion". The study was opened by the Reverend Mr. Morden of Wesley Church. With this foundation the girls continued the study. On April 9th, an Easter Party was held under the direction of Louise Robertson, the music for which was provided by the Radio Club.

"—To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian Character, and to stand together on and for the platforms of clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship and clean living". This is the purpose of the Senior Girls' Hi-Y. Formed with such a high ideal and with such enthusiasm behind it, how could the year help but be successful? From applications

This is one of the well-known Frats. at Western; started two years ago with Len Jack as President. The Frat started its activities in Dept., with a stag party at the home of Ken Roberts. New members initiated into the Frat. were: Norm McKinley, Alan Beaumont, Ross Rutledge, Bill Kerr, Bud Hall, Harvey Robinson and Jack Willets. Other successful social events were "Witch Kraft Rhythm", a turkey raffle, a formal dance at Fordie Leslie's, a hay-ride and a toboggan party. Another stag party was held in March, in which six new members were taken in. These new members are: Randle Brereton, Art Brass, Leo Pullis, Ken Baker, Ken Noble and Bill Cunningham.

Members on Active Service now are: Rob Askew, R.C.A.F.; John Dykes, R.C.N.V.A.; Ray Culley, R.C.N.V.R.; and Ted Apperley, R.C.N.V.R.

The Frat. is now planning a party at St. Martin's Hall, and a dance at the Rendezvous.

SUB DEB CLUB

The Sub Deb Club, organized two years ago, has become a service club. During the year donations have been made to the "Russian Fund", Penny Parade, Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital, and the Woods Home. Other activities of the year were: a raffle and two successful house parties. The girls knit for the Red Cross and collect stamps for salvage.

THE WESTERN MIRROR "GOES TO BED" IN PICTURES

1. The Editor, Jocelyn Sara, gives reporters, Sybil Johnston, Mary Beattie, Kay MacLeod, Ita Chetner, Darrol Tarves, Frank Darknell, Alison Matthews and Margaret Ludlow their weekly news assignments.

2. Feature Editors, Ross Thomas, Boys' Sports; Ruth Hulbert, Bits and Pieces; Bill Davis, Swing; Shirley Stevens, Girls' Sports; and Lois Schooling, Hollywood Marquise, discuss their problems.

3. The Editors, LaVerne Middleton, Muriel Buchanan and Jocelyn Sara check, rewrite and select stories.

4. Printers Bob Ward, Jack Russell make up the pages, Jim McLean, sets headings, and Darrol Tarves corrects proofs.

5. Bill Doward starts the press rolling.

6. Dave Mitchel, circulation manager, counts the money from paper sales.

7. Mr. McKim, the staff advisor.

The Western Mirror has long been the recognized "voice" of Western Canada High School. For eight years it has been published "by the students, for the students", and is a popular item on the campus.

Its fame has been well spread during the last two years—first by its capturing the first place International Award of the Quill and Scroll Association, and second by the Overseas Edition. This special Christmas edition has been sent for two years to former Western students who are serving in the Armed Forces at all corners of the globe. Over 500 copies were mailed this Christmas to Western's "heroes" and they have proved extremely popular with these fellows, as evidenced by many letters sent to the Mirror by grateful recipients.

This year's sales have been gratifying to all connected with the paper. A contributing factor is that the editorial staff have ably judged the reading likes and dislikes of the student body. It may also be due in part to the contest among salesmen, the twelve best being awarded Acatecs.

Much credit is due to the "unsung heroes"; the boys who print the paper. One of the agreeable things about the Mirror is the quality of the printing.

This year's final issue will probably be the graduation number previous to the graduation exercises. As 13 issues have already been sold it is likely that there will be more publications than last year.

The editors this year are Jocelyn Sara, LaVerne Middleton and Muriel Buchanan. They have been assisted by Mr. H. McKim, faculty advisor.

Ronnie Rudd handled the "Greek Column", Ruth Hurlburt regularly contributed "Bits and Pieces" as well as publicity for "Excursion", and Bill Davis, Frank Darknell and John Matthews wrote the popular "Swing Notes".

Girls' sports were ably handled by Shirley Stevens and Pearl Squires; boys' sports by Ross Thomas.

Alison Matthews edited the Gossip page--and here much thanks is extended to you "tattlers" who put your contribution in the library box.

Bob Ward and Gordon Johnson handled the pictorial as photographer and cartoonist respectively.

The "scoop kids" were Mary Beatty, Jean Gibbs, Harry McCutcheon, Helen Slusarenko, Pat Keen, Darrol Tarves, Sybil Johnston, Kay MacLeod, Margaret Ludlow, Ita Chetner and Don Campbell.

The business end was efficiently handled by Len Jack and Dave Mitchell.

IOTA GAMMA SORORITY

This year's activities of the Iota Gamma Sorority began with a rush tea held in early October. The new members admitted were to comprise the active sorority. Later, in January, three more girls were taken in. Three very successful parties were held during the year, with their main social activity being the annual "Spring Fever" dance held at Penley's.

Members are: Jo Yearwood, President; Margery McKechnie, Secretary-Treasurer; Barbara Kerr, Social Convener; Ila Logan, Margaret Irvine, Doreen Melton, Dorothy Loudfoot, Joyce Noble, Marjorie Hill, Gerry Bailey, Elsie Lidington.

Alumnae: Mrs. Conn, Mrs. Morrisette, Mrs. F. J. Marsh, Mrs. Melton, Mrs. Monteath, Mrs. Moore, Diana Lane, Elizabeth Lane, Kaye North, Evelyn Johnstone, Edna Leggett, Gunver Ludmark, Marie Johnstone, Dorothy Coffin, Lilian Bailie, Ida Cornery, Marg. Neive.

AERONAUTICS CLUB

The Aeronautics Club was formed early in the school year by Mr. Throop and has been a great success from the start. Official R.C.A.F. films on the Theory of Flight have been shown. The club has also been given interesting talks on model building and flying by Mr. Graham and Ridley Shaw.

The Aeronautics have visited No. 2 Wireless School and the R.C.A.F. field at Shepard. The executives of the club are: Gordy Johnson, President; Bob d'Easum, Vice-President; Walter Jottreau, Secretary-Treasurer.

Other members are: B. Milstein, B. Broadfield, J. Webb, W. Smith, R. Adlard, M. Ridgeway, J. Rackham, E. Schriber, T. Garnet, T. Moffat, D. Tarvis, N. Jones, G. Kermack.

FRENCH CLUB

In October, with the assistance of Barbara Fish, French Scholarship winner, the French Club started off with an unprecedented membership of fifteen. Until Christmas, Madame Audet came to the school on Thursday afternoons and gave excellent assistance. Joyce Neufield served as chairman, Vera Waters as secretary, and Jim Cumming as vice-president. With regret that they had not planned a more definite course, the executive, instructor and members disbanded this club early in March. Waiting their turn, however, another group of French students has been organized. They are producing a play, "Le Cunico", a medieval farce, as their contribution to next year's Cercle Francais programme. A second group, meeting Monday evenings, of more advanced students, are undertaking to produce a drama of revolutionary France in 1793. The first troupe includes Patricia Sheppard, Kathleen Ganton, Marjorie Hill, Maxine Burroughs, John Chunta, Bertram Jarrett, Jim Holychuk, Dolores Scott, Lavon Cudney and Betty Jensen. The second group consists of Bruce Hatfield, Jack Fair, Victor Fergie, David Burge, Bill Carr, Jerry Reilly, Sylvia Baronholtz, Miriam Freedman and Tannys Black.

Miss Hawley, as director of the Cercle Francais, and Miss Barclay, directing the school club, have given valuable spare time to these organizations and all the students are very grateful. Their aim of course is to speak French fluently in the outside world. To each and all as they leave, the French Club extends best wishes for successful enriched living in a democratic society. "Celui qui cherche, trouve".

ANNUAL CONCERT

On December 10th and 11th, 1942, the students of Western Canada High School combined their talents in a Concert presented annually in the school auditorium. A varied and interesting programme was staged. The program itself was artistically printed here in our own print shop and listed the performers honorably.

The Choir, under the direction of Miss Mary Makar, sang several selections in part singing.

Select members of the P.T. classes danced a colorful Spanish Routine taught to them by Miss A. Gish.

In contrast to the musical portion of the concert, Con Bain's play, "The Man Who Wouldn't Go To Heaven", closed one of the finest features of its kind in the school year.

Top Right—It was our trip.

Bottom Right—We all helped.

Now that our seventh annual production, "Excursion", is over, we can look back on another major triumph. Playing to capacity houses for four nights, the cast responded well, pleasing both Miss Mitchell and the large audiences.

The story of the play,—that of a group of passengers on an excursion between New York and Coney Island, attempting to find their Utopia, was one of gripping intensity. It was livened by many moments of humor, supplied by Mike, played by Don Kennedy, and Frank Glenfield, who was the tired old Jew. For a poignant moment we saw how sad and frustrated the life of some of the passengers was, as they were forced to return to their sordid homes, after a glimpse of a better land.

Captain Obadiah Rich, played by Conrad Bain, was the leader of the band, while his brother, Jonathan, played by Pat Narrowway, was the one who started the trouble. Stephan of the sea-sick stomach, was well received, and each of the other sailors had his own peculiar characteristics: Daisy, Eileen, and Magoon, the quarrelsome three, played by Margery McKenna, Faye Prentiss and Bob Baxter respectively, carried their heavy parts well, never stepping out of character. Marg received special praise for her portrayal of the neuratic Daisy obsessed with the idea of getting away from her brutal father.

The set, designed by students of the school, was most intricate for, when closed, it represented the lower deck of the ship; while, when open, showed the interior of the captain's cabin where three of the scenes were laid. Effective lighting under Frank Donald, varied from bright sunlight to the lights of the Ferris

"EXCURSION"

Wheel shining through the captain's window from Coney Island.

Make-up under Herbert Earle was very true to life and the bewhiskered faces of some of the characters brought roars of laughter from the audience. As the age of the characters ran from two octogenarians to a baby six months old, Mr. Earle certainly had his hands full.

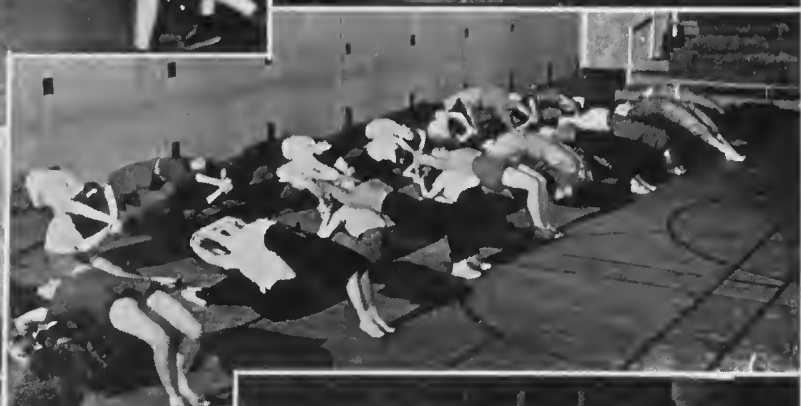

Congratulations are certainly due to Miss Mitchell and her huge cast of thespians.

SPORTS

INTERMEDIATES

The Intermediates gave a sparkling performance in their playoff games to down all opposition in fine style. Marching to victory in their first two starts, the team showed a listless attitude and were defeated. Paced by pretty Doreen Williams who led, ganging attack after attack, the team triumphed in their last games 22-7 and 16-10. Other stars on this perennial championship team were Lila Zorn, Dorothy Kwong and Jean Murdock. One of the most consistent performers throughout the season was pint-sized Pearl Squires.

JUNIORS

This year's edition of the Junior aggregation once again passed and shot their way to a decisive victory. In every game our hoop stars soundly trounced all opposition with huge scores. The outstanding players who consistently arced the ball through the mesh were Hazel Cozzubbo, Helen Olenyk, and Mary Sales. The all around good sportsmanship of the team is worthy of mention, and next year when another season rolls around, all the girls will be back in quest of another championship.

GIRLS' HOUSE LEAGUE

Once again bitter antagonism arose between the class teams, with the result that a very successful season was enjoyed by all the girls who participated. In the Grade X group, XJ surged to the fore after battling down the stretch with XPQ and XLK. The leading scorer of the league was Lois Mackey who netted 56 points, M. Sales and P. Tait came next with 30 points each. In the senior division it was found that each class could not send a team into action. Consequently a four-team league was organized under the capable direction of Miss Gish. Sarah Smith of team 2 was the outstanding player and contributed 65 points to her team's total.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The senior quintet, one of the most valiant teams ever produced in Western, just missed, after constantly coming from behind all year to snatch victory from the hand of the invader. In one game in particular, the fighting brand of basketball was especially noted from this corner. It was the game in which our team was down six points with only a few minutes to play when the whole squad was galvanized into action. Pressing home furious assaults on the opposition, Tiny Buchan snagged a pass and let it drop through the hoop to tie the game just as the shrill blast of the closing whistle rent the air. In another thrilling game we lost out to Crescent in a heartbreaker, 15-14. The high scorers on this team were Tiny Buchan, Shirley Smith, Cecilia Walker and Maud Suttle.

PLAYING THE GAME OF LIFE

The cheering of the crowds in the grand stand was deafening. Only a few seconds left to play and the game tied. Fifteen yards to go and the last play called. The players break from the huddle, take up their assigned positions. Signals are called and the ball snapped. The receiver coolly surveys the situation, hesitates a long second, then shoots the ball to a predetermined spot. Will the pass be completed? The crowd stand hushed, then breaks into a roar of applause as the ball drops into the sure hands of the speeding end. Dodging his tacklers he hurtles across the goal line for a touch down. The game is won! The play was perfectly executed and both passer and receiver were given a rousing ovation by the spectators. Not many among the cheering mob realized that effective blocking by the rest of the team was largely responsible for the success of this brilliant play. How often is the steady co-ordinated team play overshadowed by the spectacular? Full and complete co-operation from all ensures success.

All eyes are turned toward the far turn of the track where the halfmilers are just coming into the stretch. Jack has forged into the lead. Only fifty yards to go. Can he hold his lead? Paul is gaining steadily and with a few strides to go is only a yard behind. Five yards from the finish Paul falters, loses a stride, and Jack speeds across the finish line—the winner.

Too few realize the hours of dull, monotonous, and gruelling grind that these athletes must undergo before they are able to give the brilliant exhibitions of athletic prowess. Those tedious hours are more than repaid by the satisfaction, the assurance, the confidence engendered by the knowledge of doing something well. This training has added greatly to the equipment of these athletes in their later activities, business and professional life.

We can't all be a Jack or even members of a winning team, but we all can take some part in athletics and try to gain some of that spirit of co-operation, so necessary to team play, that assurance and that confidence in our own ability which comes from accomplishment, in preparation or in contest.

It is easy to support a winning team. It is all too easy to criticize a losing team. Participation in athletics should help us to recognize the difficult situations which arise in competition and to appreciate the courage and skill with which the contestants meet them. We should learn to be good losers as well as good winners. Loyalty to our school, and to ourselves, demands that we support in every way we can our school teams whether they win or lose.

We all are contestants in the important game of life. The need for intelligent preparation for life is fully as great as for some athletic contest. How important it is that we prepare intelligently. Only a well trained mind in a healthy body will enable us

INTERSCHOLASTIC FIELD AND TRACK MEET

Western Canada Wins in Girl Division:

Western Canada girls carried off both the Grand Aggregate and Junior Championships with Crescent Heights taking the Senior Crown. Dorothy Ward of Crescent Heights was the individual star of the Meet and was largely responsible for her school triumphing in the Senior Division. Dorothy set two records and tied a third to chalk up a total of 21 points.

L. Watson of Central, who boosted the High Jump mark by one inch, and E. MacNeill of Western shared the Junior Honors with 10 points apiece. Dorothy Ward bettered the Standing Broad Jump by $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches and set a new mark of 4 feet 6 inches in the High Jump. Western girls were awarded the Dr. Singleton and Eaton trophies for their two championships, while Crescent Heights Seniors won the Birks trophy.

Boys' Division:

Considering that many of our former stars have started a race to Berlin and Tokio, Western's 1942 Track Team turned in a very creditable performance.

Our cinder scorchers really turned on the heat in the two mile team race, with Bob Warner scoring the individual honors. Although Bob equalled the total record of 10 min., $44\frac{3}{4}$ sec., it was disallowed as the new course was slightly under two miles. In turning in this fine performance, the Agnew Trophy now holds a spot in our Trophy case. The team was composed of Bob Warner, Jim Rintoul, Gordon McIlroy, Art Longair and Gunter Fercho.

In the 440 relays are team of J. Choppin, J. Lancaster, V. Bentley and S. Malone copped a second.

In the Intermediate Section, Kinny Ferris broke the tape in the 660 yard run in 1 min., 33 sec., to score a first.

Bill Black nabbed a second in the Shot Put, while J. Miller ran second in the Junior 660 yard grind.

SPORTLIGHT REVIEW

by P. HOWSAM

The past year, 1942-43, was one of many surprises, thrills, successes and defeats in the way of sports at Western. Every phase of physical culture was attempted in some shape or form under the excellent guidance of our physical training instructors, Miss Gish and Mr. Souter. On behalf of all the students in the school, who were in any way connected with sport, we would like them to know, that we greatly appreciate the way they gave unstintingly of their time.

As many of our senior boys have joined some branch of the Armed Services, the senior rugby was curtailed this school year, and it is unlikely that our "big boys" will swing into action until the final whistle concludes the doubtful career of a punk team of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito. In the intermediate and junior ranks, a fine display was put on by our representatives of the gridiron. Congratulations, juniors, on your fine performance.

Hockey, in every division, was cut off this year, although many of our future stars joined some of the leagues around the city. As a winter sport, a great number of the students turned to bowling alleys for keeping the kinks out of their muscles. In fact, so many teams were in operation that only half of the league could play each week. Perhaps next year the bowling clubs of Western, Central and Crescent could form a league. Many others during the winter turn to the badminton courts and in this division Western had a very successful team. As has been the custom in past years, most of the attention in the school was focused on basketball quintets, and here the fairer sex outdid the boys. Our bevy of beauties captured two crowns for us this year. Good work, girls.

Now that the birds are singing and the flowers are starting to bloom, the speed merchants have started to train for the annual meet at Mewata Stadium. Come on, gang, start limbering up those muscles and see if we can't retain the prestige our former students have won for us.

Having given a brief resume of what has happened at the old school in the past year, I would like you to remember always that good old adage, "It matters not whether you win or lose, but how you played the game".

Western Boys Mourned the Lack of Hockey Last Winter.

JUNIOR RUGBY

Western vs. Central, Lost 8-5.

In their opening game of the season, the Western aggregation was nosed out in the last minute of play by our bitter rivals, Central. The game had everything as far as the enthusiastic football fan was concerned, with play shifting first from one end of the field to the other. The Central squad led 3-0 at the end of the third quarter as the result of three singles. Striving desperately for points, Western took to the air and Billy Black tossed a 35 yard pass to Ernie Brunner. A few moments later the same two connected again, only this time Brunner was camped over the goal line. From then on our boys tried to hang on but were thwarted in the last minute of play when Central scored a touch.

Western vs. St. Mary's, Lost 16-5.

The St. Mary's squad chalked up its second win of the season by registering a 16-5 defeat to a fighting Western team. From the opening whistle the Saints literally swept all before them. In the first quarter they scored twice only to have our gridiron huskies come fighting back harder than ever. The leader of our attack was Bill Black who reeled off a pair of fifteen yard advances. A few moments later Black tore through centre and went over the line standing up. With the commencement of the second half the tilt turned into a ding dong affair with first one side threatening then the other. However the Saints had a wee bit too much power for our moguls and they added another touch before the final whistle.

Western vs. Crescent, Won 6-3.

Climaxing a terrific downfield drive, Western Juniors scored a sensational win in defeating the highly touted Crescent team, 6-3. There was a blustering gale and the boys from the north hill took immediate advantage of the gift of the gods, and kicked three singles in the first quarter. Ronnie Rosvold, fleet-footed half, was the hero of the engagement as he skirted the end for what proved to be the deciding points. Billy Black, another Western star, converted. All in all it was a great battle although both sides played careful rugby due to adverse weather conditions.

Western vs. Central, Won 8-0.

Sparked by the brilliant running and kicking of Billy Black, a vastly improved Western team rolled over the powerful Central aggregation. Throughout the game Western played heads up football and showed tremendous superiority over their opponents. Despite their edge in power we were only ahead 2-0 at the half. Nearing the close of the third quarter, gains of 15 and 20 yards were marked up by Black and Rosvold respectively. Then at the turn of the quarter Black smashed his way across from the 20 yard line to score a touch. Throughout the game the Western warriors played super ball, providing good interference and making gaping holes in the opponent's line.

Western vs. St. Mary's, Won 7-0.

Coming through with a determined bid in the last quarter, Western stayed at the top of the standing by blasting the Saints 7-0. Western had a clear edge on the play with Black and Rosvold consistently making dents in the St. Mary's machine. Western nursed a 1-0 lead which they gained in the first half on a kick by Black, until they made an all out bid for victory in the last quarter. Rosvold did all the ball carrying on this bid and it was a brilliant effort on his part. In three plays he carried the pigskin 50 yards to chalk up a major score. Although it was a great win for our team, the game lacked the usual spark of former games.

Western vs. Crescent.

Postponed due to the setting in of old man winter.

INTERMEDIATE RUGBY

Western vs. Crescent, Won 1-0.

The actual score on this curtain raiser was 6-0 for Crescent but it was found later that the Crescent team was using illegible players. In spite of this I will give you the account of the actual game. From the outset it was apparent that Crescent had a decided edge in sheer power and ruggedness. In the first quarter our opponents started a drive from midfield which netted the only major score of the game. In the dying moments Art Cooper was rouged for a single. The most spectacular play of the contest was provided by two of our stalwart stars, Don MacKenzie and Art Hall. MacKenzie fired a beautiful 30 yard pass to Hall, who was dragged down just after it appeared that he was free. Don Petty turned in a standout performance for our team.

Western vs. Central, Lost 21-6.

In their second start of the season our Intermediates were steam-rolled to the tune of 21-6 by Central. The mob from 13th Avenue had too much power in the line and in the kicking department for our pigsters to handle. With the score 21-0 against them, Western pulled a honey of a sleeper play which caught our opponents napping. Petty snagged a long pass from Cooper and galloped over the line to prevent a white-wash. Once again Don Petty stood out like a shining star with some beautiful broken field running, and the manner in which he overtook a Centralite from behind to prevent another touchdown was sensational.

Western vs. St. Mary's, Lost 8-0.

Unfortunately this was the dullest game played in the whole season, for with the exception of the odd play, neither team put any fight into their tussle. The Saints scored a safety in the first quarter on Cooper, and went on for a touch in the second. Starting the second half a new team stepped on the field for Western, and in the first few minutes things started to hum. Freddy Welmos snared a bullet pass from Roy Kelly and twisted and wiggled to the 25 yard line. However a listful attitude overtook the team and their attack fell apart.

Western vs. Crescent, Lost 6-0.

In their return engagement, the Crescent boys managed to eke out a 6-0 decision over our Western team. Lady Luck was the deciding factor in this battle of the gladiators, for every time our never-say-die team got into pay dirt they were robbed by costly fumbles. The only score of the game came in the initial quarter when Crescent made good on a Western fumble. Don Petty and Jack Sharpe turned in good performances for our team.

Western vs. Central, Won 11-6.

In their final start of the season before they hung up their togs for another year, our warriors came through with the biggest upset of the year, to smother the highly regarded Central array, 11-6. After a shaky start in which we spotted our opponents six points, the true fighting qualities of Western came to

For its fifth spectacular year the Western Tumbling Club has actively led the way in all of our school's physical activities. The club is an entirely non-profit voluntary organization, and is composed of boys who participate with better physical condition in view. The honorary president and instructor is Mr. J. J. Souter.

Jack Chalmers is the president for the second year, Bob Guise presides as vice-president, and Jack McCarthur is secretary. Work this year has consisted of such exercises as forward rolls, buck jumps, neck flips and box horse work. A number of the fifty members participated in this year's physical display, along with others who were selected from the P.T. classes. Their perfect muscular co-ordination and smooth mat work was especially noted by the audience.

Three medals are awarded annually—one for the most efficient tumbler; one for the most efficient junior tumbler; and the one which every boy strives to attain, the best leader trophy. A cup is also donated to the most proficient P.T. class.

BADMINTON

Last fall at the organization meeting of the Western Canada Badminton Club, Lorna Wilson was elected president, Bob Doran vice-president, Sheila Johnston secretary-treasurer, with Allen Beaumont and Peter Wrangham the executive. It was agreed upon that Monday would be the most suitable day for the activities to be held. Those who were particularly energetic were given permission to hold practice sessions on Friday mornings. A large supply of pins was obtained and these were sold to a majority of the members. The membership was much larger than in previous years with 67 members enrolled. It is hoped that the club will be able to function again next year, although the government has indefinitely suspended the sale of badminton birds.

SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

In making the preparations for this year's annual tournament, it was decided by the committee to award prizes to every team that participated, ranging from the school champions to the couple occupying the last position. Due to the kindness of the Kiwanis Club a beautiful cup was put up for competition. This handsome trophy was won by the smooth team of Bob Doran and Sheila Johnston. These two blasted their way to the final where they triumphed over Howsam and Wilson 15-9, 18-16. The "B" group championship was won by the never-say-die team of hard working Bill Carr and Barbara Kerr. In one of the most thrilling matches of the tourney they rallied to defeat Tom Underwood and John Blacky after dropping the first game. In the "C" group a promising pair of future champions, Stan Fletcher and Ted Murray, turned back the determined bid of Vern Doten and Jean Young in championship style. Due to the tireless efforts of Mr. Collinson, faculty adviser for the past five years, everyone agreed it was one of the most successful competitions in years.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BADMINTON TOURNAMENT

For many years a lonely space has been reserved in our trophy case for the Interscholastic Badminton Trophy, but for some reason that cup never entered our hallowed halls. That is, until this year, for on March 6th, a fighting band of hard-hitting athletes swept all before them in the annual classic at the Glencoe Club. When it was all over and the last battered bird had come to rest, the scores were tabulated. It was then found that Western had scored a decisive victory with 54 points, Central scored 42 points, while Crescent trailed with a lone two. Four teams represented each of the aforementioned schools, and each team had to play eight sets. Western had two outstanding combinations: Bob Doran and Sheila Johnston; and Pete Howsam and Lorna Wilson. These two teams smashed their way to victory in every set, and by so doing contributed 32 points to Western's total. Turning in an almost faultless display, our remaining teams played brilliantly throughout and clinched victory for Western. These squads were made up of George Macpherson and Joan d'Easum; and Doug Ciley with Pat Quint. In every sense of the word it was a successful tournament and we sincerely hope that Western will continue to reign supreme on the badminton courts.

HOUSE LEAGUE BASKETBALL

In one of the most successful races for the coveted honor of being House League Champions, the team of XI-D emerged victorious after a bitter final with XII-D. In the drive down the stretch the team of XII-CDE, which was the pride of the grade twelves, gave their junior rivals a good run for their money before bowing out of the picture. Another team which showed up well during the schedule were the sophmores of X-C. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the league this year was that a large number of the games were played during the noon hour. This change in schedule met with great approval for it gave everyone an opportunity to witness the brawn and muscle of the hoop stars. Thanks to the eagle eye of Mr. Souter very little dirty play spoiled the games, and the refereeing of some of the senior students was excellent. In the final game which decided the fate of the bronze statue which is the emblem of the victors, one of the most thrilling contests any one could wish for, took place. Tied one all in games, the sudden-death struggle was fast and furious throughout. Waging an uphill battle XI-D finally were leading 23-22 with only eight seconds remaining when Currie broke down the centre of the floor. Just as the ball was leaving his finger tips, the whistle thrilled, and it was all over. However, due to the roar of the crowd it was not heard, and when the ball trickled through the mesh, near pandemonium broke loose. On interviewing the two captains after the bitterly fought contest, Russell, leader of the XI-C aggregation said, "It was a tough one to lose, but I guess the best team won". Tom Deakin, jubilant over the success of his team managed to gasp, "A great game, the hardest one that I ever played".

The leading scorers throughout the season were Deakin, Cumming, Bradford and Maginley.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL

With the opening of the season this year we had high hopes of walking off with the junior and senior championships. However, after marching right to the final in both classes our boys just failed to make the grade. In the junior division we had two teams representing our school, the Bronks and the Argos. Throughout the season the Bronks were dogged by misfortune and didn't manage to register a single victory. However the Argos, who were last year's champions, fought their way to a draw in the regular schedule which forced a round robin series in which Central finally came out victorious. The most consistent stars for the Argos in their bid for the Gas Company trophy were Lovo, Parker, Sahara and Jenkins. Our stalwart for the senior division were a very inconsistent band of basketballers for they were either sensational or just terrible. In one of their games they did what had been hitherto impossible, beating Crescent on their own floor. Led by such players as Tom Deakin, John Russell, Bert Maginley and Doug. Robb, the team fought their way into the final against Crescent.

It was a two game series, in which Crescent drew first blood. In the second engagement, a thrilling tussle was put up, but in the dying moments of the game Crescent clinched the issue, and for the second straight year hold the T. Eaton Trophy.

In all it was a fine season, and next year the boys will try and eke out their revenge.

LITERARY

A LETTER TO THE GANG BACK HOME

By Gordon Upton, 11J.

"I'M ONE of the fellows who is making the world safe from democracy. I fought and fought but I had to go anyway. I was in Class A—the next time I want to be in Class B (B here when they come back). I remember when I registered—I went up to the desk and the man in charge was my milkman. He said 'What is your name?' I said, 'Oh you know me'. 'What's your name?' he barked. I told him 'August Childs'. He said, 'Are you alien?' I said, 'No, I feel fine'. He asked me where I was born, and I said, 'Pittsburgh'. Then he said, 'When did you first see the light of day?', and I said, 'When we moved to Philadelphia'. He asked me how old I was, so I told him, 'Twenty-three the first day of September'. He said, 'The first day of September you will be in China and that will be the last of August'.

Then I went to camp and I guess they didn't think I would live long. The first fellow I saw wrote on my card 'Flying Corps'. I went a little further and some fellow said, 'Look what the wind's blown in'. I said, 'Wind, nothing. The draft's doing it'. On the second morning they put these clothes on me. What an outfit. As soon as you're in it you think you could fight anybody. They have two sizes—too big or too small. The pants were so tight I couldn't sit down. The shoes were so big I turned around three times and they never moved. What a raincoat they gave me—it just strained the rain. I passed an officer all dressed up with a funny belt, and all that stuff. He said, calling to me, 'Didn't you notice my uniform when you passed'. I said, 'Yeah, what are you kicking about—look what they gave me'.

One morning when it was about five degrees below, they called us out for underwear inspection. Talk about scenery—red flannels, B.V.D.'s of all kinds. The union suit I had on would fit Tony Galento. The lieutenant lined us up and told us to stand up. I said, 'I am up, sir, but this darn underwear makes you think I'm sitting down'.

He got so mad he put me out digging a ditch. A little later he passes me and said, 'Don't throw that dirt up here'. I said, 'Where am I going to put it?' He said, 'Dig another hole and put it there'.

Three days later we sailed for Australia. Marching down the pier, I had the worst luck. I had a Sergeant who stuttered and it took him so long to say 'Halt' that 27 of us marched overboard. They pulled us out and lined us up on the pier. The captain came by and said, 'Fall in'. I said, 'I have been in, sir'.

Talk about dumb people—I said to one of the fellows, 'I guess we dropped the anchor'. He replied, 'I knew they'd lose it—it's been hanging out ever since we left New York'. Well, we landed and were immediately sent to the trenches after three nights there, the cannons began to roar and the shells started to pop. I was shaking with patriotism. I tried to hide behind a tree but there weren't enough trees for the officers.

At five o'clock we went over the top and 10,000 Japs came at us. The way they looked at me you'd think I had started the war. Our Captain yelled, 'Fire at will'—but I didn't know anybody by that name. I guess the fellow behind me thought I was Will, because he fired and shot me in the excitement!"

ELEGY

By Joyce Lindseth, 10H.

Illustration by Dorothy Unsworth.

From broad domains of plains and forests, wooded mountains, rivers wide,
You went, we knew and guessed not where
O'er troubled seas, to troubled lands, to cliffs of white, "to lend a hand"
You said.

But soon you left that cheerful isle to travel to a land unknown,
A destination undisclosed.

Then when we heard from you again, our hearts were cured of all their pain
Once more.

Your letters came more often then, and how we loved those scribbled words

For they were all we had of you.

We read them till we knew by heart each separate line, yes, every part
You wrote.

But then a day of sorrow came, a hurt so deep it cut our hearts,
And filled our eyes with tears that burned.

The life you gave was not in vain, so rest assured that right shall reign
Once more.

YEAR BOOK GREMLINS

MUCH INFORMATION has been brought to light in recent months about the Gremlins and related species. Most of the research has been in regard to those which haunt the planes and operations of the British, Canadian and American airmen. We have also been hearing about the mischievous practices of one sub-specie whose habitat is the newspaper composing room, commonly known as "type-lice". But no one, so far as we know, has ever exposed the malicious and sinister tricks of another branch of the Gremlins, those which specialize in annoying the editors of high school year books.

The Year Book Gremlins long ago discovered the Western Acatec as a large field in which to work and some of the most skilled and ruthless operators were detailed to the job.

Many are the forms of sabotage dear to the heart of Year Book Gremlins: they enjoy covering the eyes of our proof readers so that embarrassing mistakes in spelling, punctuation, English and grammar slip by unnoticed. Or one of them will whisper, "Sure, 'receive' is spelled with an 'ie,'" or else, "Aw, let it go, the printer will find it".

Another popular trick is to put the wrong names beside pictures. They will deliberately transpose names in a basketball lineup so that Bill Black who is tall and fair is named Joe White who is really short and dark. Daring old Gremlins have been known to put an entire boys' hockey lineup beside the intermediate football team picture. Great fun is also had by leaving a name out of those below a group picture, causing anguish to the unnamed student and embarrassment to the editors.

One year a committee of Gremlins persuaded the Acatec staff to use a cheap grade of paper. They argued, "What the students want is a thick book. Never mind this fancy coated stock". So the cheaper paper was used and the Gremlins laughed evilly when the results came from the press.

Gremlins delight in making the staff believe that they always have plenty of time. They will whisper persuasively, "Why it's only March! Why hurry? Relax. Take it easy". If this advice is followed, disaster is sure to ensue. A lot of things may happen suddenly in April. The printer may not be able to get his paper from Winnipeg. The engraver may be held up by lack of metal, or may be swamped by a flood of work from Crescent Heights High, C.C.I., Mount Royal College, Rideau Junior High and the Olds Agricultural College, throwing the Acatec schedule into a cocked hat.

Nowadays the editors and staff are onto most of these subversive dodges, but a few mistakes always happen. You will probably find evidences of Gremlin activities in this very edition.

WAR WORK IN THE WOODSHOP

IT IS only fitting and proper that the excellent war work done by the Grade XI boys in Wood II should be recognized by the Year Book. More than half of those listed below have given almost the entire shop time of the school year to the production of model aircraft for use of the Air Force Training Schools, while all Grade XI boys, without exception, continued at this work until shortly after the Christmas holidays.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION

By J. Lakeland.

HOW MANY times have you heard this unjust and infuriating statement: "I simply don't know what the younger generation is coming to"?

During peace time, youth and its ideas are almost entirely disregarded. Our political views are too radical; we drink and smoke too much; pray too little; love too recklessly. The older generation is too busy messing up the affairs of state and periodically involving us in chaotic wars to bother with us. They are, however, too old to fly in the Air Force, march in the Army, or sail in the Navy, and so—to whom do they turn—to the young men and women of the day.

The dictators realized many years ago that the strength and stability of a nation depends on the correct training of its youth. The democracies also knew that this was true but blindly, stubbornly refused to acknowledge the fact. The older people were too selfish, and jealous of their prestige. Is it any wonder that the youth of Germany is so inhumanly devoted to its leader, Hitler? He, the greatest man in their country, took an interest in them, trained them, encouraged them, and boosted their ego. Naturally, it went to their heads,—they were only human! But in direct contrast take the democratic youth with his comparative lack of interest in the government of his country. You may argue that we are too young, inexperienced, but I ask you this, could we do any worse than our predecessors???

And too, who is bearing the brunt of this war? Once again, the young people. There is much controversy over the question of "War Marriages". Girls, usually against their parents' wishes, are leaving High School, to marry boys in the services, perhaps on embarkation leave. Older people shake their heads at this. They believe that the greater percentage of these marriages will fail in pre-war life. Why should they? Any two people who are brave and strong enough to marry under present conditions are certainly strong enough to face life after victory is won. That is, with a little deserved assistance from their elders, who no doubt, will resume their governmental duties after the war. It takes far more courage to marry a man, wave him a smiling good-bye after a few days and then go back to quotidienne life, knowing that even if he doesn't come back he had a little happiness. The right to love is one thing which must not be taken away from us!

Take the average boy of a democracy in any one of the services. Tall, handsome, enthusiastic, he rushed to the recruiting offices with laughing lips but with serious thoughtful eyes. Well he knew that this was a life and death struggle, not just a thrilling adventure. There are safer ways of getting thrills than flying Spitfires, skulking along the sea bottom in submarines, or marching into the midst of an unseen enemy. No—these boys don't talk about "saving their glorious homeland",—they get out on land, sea or air and quietly, efficiently, do it!! Ask any one of them why he enlisted. A shrug of the shoulders will probably be his answer.

Now—parent, teacher, friend, return to my first statement: I don't know what the younger generation is coming to; think for a moment, and then, offer up this prayer, "Thank God for the Younger Generation".

BLACK-EYES AND BLACK-OUTS

By Frank A. Darknell.

"I PULLED my head out of a snow bank and surveyed Calgary's black-out. It was verboten to travel during a black-out, but I was out for blood. Neither wardens nor six-foot cops were going to stop me, I assured myself.

I had a grudge to pick with my Uncle Bone-head. I beg your pardon, with my Uncle Norman. He had taken Marj out earlier in the evening, and I had wished him God-Speed, until I found out that this particular night happened to be black-out night, the night I was to ask her to go to the Mozart Recital with me. Now I was wishing him all possible speed the other way.

I waited until the air-raid warden, whose head had stopped a snow-ball I had thrown, recovered from his annoyance, and wended his weary way up the other street, and then I sneaked across the road and followed up the boulevard.

It was dark. I walked ten paces . . . right into a tree! 'Now be reasonable, warden', I exclaimed. 'I, er—', then I discovered my error and went on.

Uncle Norman had taken her to a show. Such vulgar taste. She would have preferred a Mozart Recital I was certain.

A voice yelled: 'Lee doon!' It was the air-raid warden. 'Lee doon?' I queried. 'ng I . . . Lee doon and dee. A boom ha' fa'n oot o' the night, and ha' gone boomb! Ye're a casyaltie, laddie'. 'A casualty?' 'Aye, a casualty, so lee doon an' dee'. So I lay me doon and deed, and the man with the brogue came up and stuck a label on me.

I was still thinking of Uncle Norman and Marj and the Mozart Recital when the ambulance howled up. Two men jumped out. One slipped on the ice

'42 IS PAST, and all that remains to me as visual evidence of my great northern experience is a bundle of letters addressed to Fort St. John, a sign pointing to Dawson Creek, and a bunch of finger-stained pictures. They would mean little to you if you were handed them with no explanation, but to me they are priceless reminders of a summer packed full of adventure, excitement and thrills.

On last June 12th I found myself on the platform of the last station on the N.A.R. railway—at Dawson Creek, that sprawling frontier town at the end of the steel and the beginning of the Alaska Highway.

That marked the beginning of life in the north, because that night I slept for the first time in a double bunk of the Tomlinson Construction Company at Ft. St. John.

Work began next day in a 30' by 20' office jammed with files, benches, tables, and shelves, not including a wood stove, the company's letter box, and odd articles which might have been a box of dynamite or axes lying in the corner.

Our complete office equipment consisted of a typewriter, a box of pencils, pen and ink and a pencil sharpener—along with mercenary fire-creating equipment, e.g. a can of coal oil and a box of matches.

From the office door one saw the continual line of caterpillar tractors, Le Tourneaus, draglines and such massive equipment rolling on north to take their places in building that historic link between Canada and the U.S.A. — the "Alcan Highway".

To watch the creation of this highway, from the moment experienced woodsmen hewed the stake-marked swamps, till it was transformed by mechanical monsters into a momentous road commemorating the stability of Canadian-American friendship was truly an awe-inspiring experience. To see a Canadian woodsman working side by side with an American engineer cat-operator, made me realize the close co-operation of these friendly neighbours.

But victory over these barriers built by nature over countless centuries was not without its repulses, its heart-breaks. Soldiers from the numerous States will return without buddies; women in Quebec or mothers in Alberta will mourn their loss. Those grim forests, muskegs and mountains have already taken their toll of those who dared to break the silence of their mighty depths.

But the North, the great spaces, the spirit of adventure, are still calling. I want to go farther north, to once more see the serried rows of tents at Fort Alcan, to again hear the roar of a Douglas Transport in from Fort Nelson or Whitehorse, and to again feel that spirit of comradeship between men who come from the four corners of the earth to create a highway emblematic of international peace and co-operation.

DESCENT

As he tumbled down the mountain side,
From the overhanging glacier,
The little streamlet sighed,
For he was doomed to sink forgotten in the sea.
As he tumbled down he touched a little tree
And thought, "This tree is destined to reach the sky,
And bathe its leaves in sunshine high
Above, while I, a little stream, must die".

But his was not a tragic plight
For he was tired when it came night
And sank in peace into the sun warmed sea,
To rest contented,
For eternity.

DISPLAY OF ART IN THE HALLWAY

By Margaret Irvine, 10H.

THIS YEAR the lower halls of the east and west wings of Western have been echoing with the enthusiastic comments of people who stand gazing up at the walls; gazing at the framed products of the skill of our art students. Yes, for the first time, recognition, attained through these pictures which hang on the walls, is being given to the zeal and ability of art students. This public display is a splendid tribute and a well-earned one. For years the enterprising students of art have remained in obscurity but now this injustice is ended.

Among the many pictures are war scenes, city scenes, farm scenes, surrealistic motifs and beautifully arranged studies of flowers. There are also several fashion pictures which prove that we have some promising dress designers among us. All these pictures brighten the halls and are a real surprise and pleasure to visitors in the school. They are a surprise to us even yet, as the exhibits change overnight and appear at no fixed time.

The various abilities and talents of students other than art students have always been fully appreciated. Football, hockey, basketball and track stars receive due praise when they perform, and become well known also through their photos which grace the walls of the lower corridors. The students of the print shop are known to us through the paper they publish—"The Mirror"—and the literary talent of the school is also recognized there and in the Acatec. The Dramatic students receive our commendations and applause when they present their play each spring. However, the time for recognizing these art students has come at last, and I'm sure the whole of Western's student body and teachers are proud of them and their work and that they are whole-heartedly in favor of the continued exhibition of Art in our hallways.

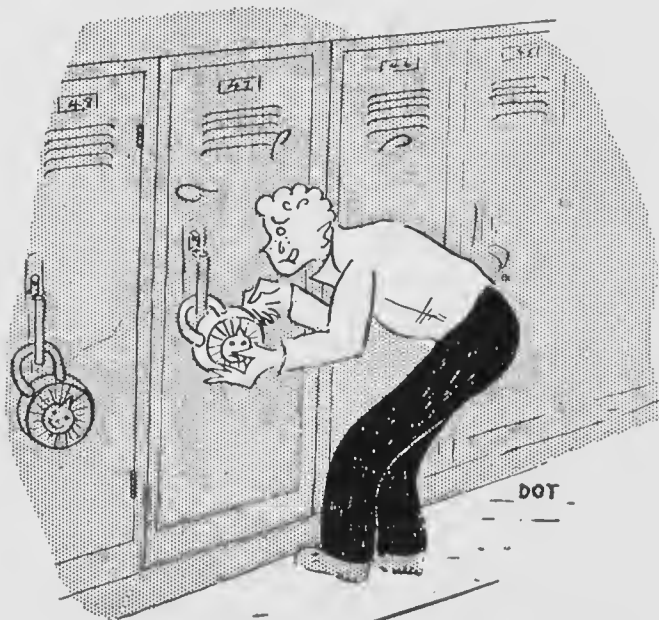

IF I COULD

If I could only put in words
 The thoughts I think when I see the birds
 Winging their way in the heavens above,
 All serene to the Masters' love.

If I could only put in song
 The thoughts I think when I walk along
 And see the wonders nature wrought
 And the beautiful things that God has brought.

If I could only make folks see
 The beautiful things as they are to me;
 Then I could die with a peaceful heart,
 Knowing that I'd done my part.

and sparks flew. 'From now on', he shouted, 'I'll keep it out of my hip pocket'.

'Did ye break it, Pat?' the driver inquired, in a horrified tone of voice. 'Sure'n I did that, Mike,' the other replied, picking himself up, dripping. 'Well, lick it up', Mike screamed. 'It cost thirty dollars at Joe's.'

Finally, when they got around to picking up casualties, I was loaded into the truck with the others. Two dogs and a cat, complete with seven new kittens, as well as a pleasant character, who explained that he was Napoleon retreating from Moscow. 'I've had to wash my face in snow for seven days', he said, and then went on to complain of his lumbago.

The ambulance skidded to a stop outside of a casualty clearing station, and Pat and Mike carted me and the other animals into the reception room. Napoleon was presented with a straight zoot-suit.

Two nurses were assigned to me. One was near-sighted and the other hard of hearing. They reminded me of a pair of holsteins.

'Broken rib, and broken laig', the near-sighted one explained. 'That's whut the ambulance driver said'. 'Father who?' the hard of hearing one cackled. 'Broken laig, Gwendolyn, and broken rib', shouted near-sight. 'Then what'd he say, Matildy?' 'Ne'er you mind, Gwendolyn. He's got a broken rib. Off with his shirt!'

'Ladies, please!' I implored, but soon they were wrapping me up in bandages. When they finished I looked like King Tut's mummy back to get the guy who bumped him off.

'Tha's fine, Gwendolyn', commented near-sight. 'Now his laig. Off with his trousers'. For some reason Gwendolyn heard this. I shouted. I screamed. But soon I was minus my dignity, my shouts having fallen on deaf ears.

Later, when I was all tied up with one leg hoisted ceiling-wards and closely resembling a garbage-man's dream, a pretty brunette entered the clearing station, followed by a desperate looking individual carrying a camera. His pockets bulged with flash-bulbs and camera plates.

Immediately my tormentors stood smiling by my bed, rubbing their hands. The sweet young thing glanced towards us. To my horror, her eyes stopped on me. 'Look, Joe, here's just what we're looking for'. Joe dashed over adjusting the flash-bulb as he came. Joe said, 'Lift up the sheets, I want to get a shot of you two ladies posing with the dressing'.

The pretty girl sat down beside me and gracefully balanced the note-book on her knee. 'We'll smear this on page one with the pictures, so take some good shots of this guy . . . Now, sir, I'm Pat McVean of the Herald', she purred, 'how does it feel to be a casualty?'

I looked at my trousers hanging on the wall, and at Joe as the flash-bulb flared. I thought of Marij and Uncle Norman, and the Mozart Recital; of the lad in the straight zoot-suit, of the air-raid warden and the two ambulance drivers, and of the cat with seven kittens. A fierce naughty answer took root and swelled up. It was just ready to explode in the collective faces of all present, when TOOOOT! went the siren, and they gave me my pants and sent me home.

WAR WORK IN THE WOODSHOP

French, Tom Gough, Lionel Groberman, George Hay, Hector McLean, Don McDermid, Gordon McKenzie, Don Russell, Dalwin Stanford, Allan Schlatter, Eddie Trewinard, Wilfred Weitz, Allan Marston, Murray Winters, Don Brigs, Tim Hlynsky, Fred Leinwebber, Maurice Ridgeway.

The plans and specifications for the various aircraft were obtained from the R.C.A.F. These are drawn to 1/48 actual size. From these accurate templates of the various parts were made which were used to mark the sizes and shapes on to the wood.

The larger parts were bandsawed to shape while the smaller parts were shaped by file and sander, accuracy being maintained throughout.

When the parts were assembled and the whole plane structure had been carefully smoothed, several coatings of flat black stain were applied, each of these in succession being rubbed down for smoothness. The finished model was finally checked, marked, then delivered to the Air Force.

Full-time workers produced a fighter and a bomber, while part-time boys turned out a fighter only. Models made included Spitfire and Messerschmitt fighters, Heinkel and Wellington bombers.

the fore and we began to tear the opposition to shreds. Missing by scant inches in the first half, Western returned to the gridiron grimly resolved to upset the applecart. Don Petty snagged a loose ball on Central's 25 and a few moments later Don MacKenzie raced over for a touch. Petty then converted. In the final quarter Western crushed all before it and Petty, having given a sterling performance all afternoon, wound up the season with a 40 yard dash around the end to put the game away.

1943 TRACK ELIMINATIONS

For the first time in several years we are able to give you in the Acatec the results of the year's Track Eliminations. This highly successful and competitive event was held Friday afternoon, May 14th.

The record number of entries in the girls' team this year indicated their keen interest. The girls inter-room competition was won by X-M with a total of 27 points of which Aurora Tewkesbury contributed 16.

Of the boys' teams the Juniors and Intermediates proved the more spectacular with near record performances by Don Pettie and Ken McKenna. The two-mile run was popular, with over 24 contestants entering. Bob Picken set a gruelling pace that seemed impossible to hold but he sprinted across the finish line 50 yards ahead of his nearest opponent.

to take our places effectively in our community. Engaging in some form of athletics, doing our best in our studies, and developing a co-operative attitude toward others will greatly assist in the attainment of the desired goal.

Let us look forward to another year of keenly contested, loyally supported athletic competition and with it a year in which we make real progress in the preparation for the more serious competition of life.

A case for the F.B.I.—A milk bottle fished out of the Pacific Ocean was found to contain a piece of water-soaked paper. But the writing on the paper was too faint to decipher. Clearly, it was a case for the F.B.I. Various tests were made, various acids applied. At last, six words stood out in startling clearness. "No milk for today, thank you."

A certain demolition lieutenant would have received an A in his course on explosives if he hadn't blown up at the last moment.

Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls are young women that will be ladies by and by. Man was made before women. When God looked at Adam, He said to Himself: "Well, I guess I can do better if I try again," and then He made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been born more women than men since. Boys are a trouble. They are wearing on everything but soap. If I had my way, half of the boys in the world would be little girls, and the rest would be dolls. My papa is so nice that I guess he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy.

These Lads Fight for the Future

Will You Be Able To Meet Its Challenge?

Winston Churchill, in his address from London on March 21, 1943, stated:

"The future of the world is left to highly educated races who alone can handle the scientific apparatus necessary for pre-eminence in peace—or survival in war".

The truth of Churchill's statement is self-evident, and just as world leadership accrues to the more highly educated race, leadership within a nation falls to those individuals who have the education for leadership.

Calgary is providing all the facilities necessary for the foundations of that higher education leadership demands. The extent to which you use these facilities will, in a large measure, determine your ability to meet the challenge which Peace will bring . . . the Future for which boys from every Calgary school are fighting on many fronts.

Man is like a kerosene lamp,
He isn't especially bright.
He's often turned down; usually smokes;
And frequently goes out at night.

A kindergarten opens each session by singing a hymn. Each child is given his turn to choose the hymn. One little fellow, on being asked what he would like sung, replied: "While shepherds wash their socks at night."

A little boy was sitting behind a bald-headed man at church, who was scratching the fringe of hair on the side of his bald pate. The old gent kept it up so long that at last the little boy became interested, and leaning over, said: "Say, mister, you'll never catch him there. Why don't you run him out in the open?"

Phrenology

'Tis strange how very like a dunce
Man—with his bumps upon his scone
Has lived so long, and yet no knowledge he Has had, till lately, of phrenology—
Head-combing he should find a hint of,
When scratching o'er those little pole-hills,
The faculties throw up like mole-hills.

A young midshipman reported to the commanding officer of a battleship for duty. The Captain was gruff and sized the youngster up with anything but a friendly air. "Well," he said, "I suppose as usual they have sent the fool of the family to sea." "Oh no," the midshipman replied, "they've changed all that since your time, sir!"

Two Irishmen, fancying they knew each other, crossed the street to shake hands. On discovering their error:

"I beg your pardon!" cried one.

"Oh now, don't mention it," said the other. "It's a mutual mistake you see, I thought it was you, and you thought it was me, and after all it was neither of us!"

Pat Pease was top scorer in the Junior Division, with 8 points, while in the Senior Division, Aurora Tewksbury, with 14 points, was a close second to A. J. Oliver of Central who made a total of 16.
